L. T. L. Entertainment
"The best yet given," was the general comment on the Loyal Temperance Legion entertainment held in Assembly Hall Friday evening, March 19. Despite the inclement weather the young people were greeted by an enthusiastic audience which netted them a fine financial return. Gross receipts were $32.05.

Each number of the following excellent program would receive special mention but for lack of space. Prohibition was the keynote of the evening, and, by song, facts, figures and spectacular display past and present day achievements were made most realistic to the hearer.

The closing motion song, "We Shall Sweep the Country," made a decided "hit" as the enthusiastic campaigners proceeded to sweep the platform with their brooms.

The stereopticon lecture by Dr. C. R. Grissinger on "Mouth Hygiene" had many practical lessons for all. Following is the program as rendered:

Part I
Orchestra; Processional—"Young Campaigners for Prohibition" leading; Salute, Rallies and Song; Legion; "Y. C. P." Greeting; Song; "The Rummies Are on the Run"; Exercise, "The House That Rum Built"; Six Boys; Map Talk—Characteristics: (a) Father Time, Paul Naus, (b) "1915," John Blackwell, (c) Columbia, Ruth Naus, (d) Eighteen Dry States; Address, Raymond Faus, President of Bedford L. Court Notes

The following decrees were handed down by the court at sessions held recently.

In re Fink vs. Cuthbert E. Weimer defendant, who was engaged in the livery business in Hopewell, sold his stock and good will of the business to the plaintiff under agreement not to engage in said business within a radius of ten miles of Hopewell. The defendant later went into the employ of a third person engaged in livery business and plaintiff asked for injunction to restrain him. The court in opinion filed March 23, 1915, grants an injunction and decreed that plaintiff pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Milton I. Bennett; the reasons and motions for a new trial are overruled and refused. Trustees of U. M. W. of America, No. 1995, vs. Nelson Adolphson and Peter Adolphson; a note with confession of judgment was entered in No. 79 September term, 1913, against the defendants. Peter Adolphson petitioned the court to open judgment and allow him to defend, stating that the note upon which judgment was entered was not signed by him or his authority. On March 23, 1915, Judge Woods ordered and directed that judgment be opened and the defendant let into a defense.

J. L. Berkhimer vs. G. B. Hoover; the question in this case was, did the defendant promise to pay for goods furnished to another. The jury found he did and Judge Woods refused and overruled the motions and reasons for a new trial.

Will Render Cantata
A large chorus, under the efficient direction of Prof. S. H. Koonitz, has been at work for several weeks, preparing the Sacred Cantata "Everlasting Life," which will be rendered in St. John's Reformed Church next Sunday evening at 7:30. The voices will be accompanied by Miss Magdalene Reed at the pipe organ and by the High School Orchestra. Because of the limited seating capacity of the church admission will be by ticket. However, tickets are FREE and can be secured either from friends or at Dull's. Preceding the rendering of the Cantata an anthem will be sung, the music for which was composed by J. Harold Weisel, until recently the organist at St. John's Church.

The Best Number
The Alumni Association will close its course this year with one of the best known and most popular attractions in Lyceum and Chautauque—The Fisher Shipp Concert Company. This company is composed of Miss Fisher Shipp, who has a lyric soprano voice of great beauty, with a range of three octaves, while her ability as a reader would, alone, entitle her to one of the highest places in her profession.

Miss Carolyn Pomeroy is a violinist of unusual talent, which has been brought out by years of study under the best of instructors, augmented by an extended concert experience.

Miss Myrtle Bloomquist has an unusually attractive contralto voice and has met with enviable success in concert recitals and music festivals. She also acts as accompanist in some of the program numbers and takes a prominent part in character songs and sketches.

Lloyd Loar is unquestionably one of the greatest mandolinists before the public, and an authority in musical theory, composition and orchestration. Twice chosen as soloist for the annual concert of the American Guild. He also plays viola and piano and, in addition, uses the mandolin, an instrument of his own invention and the only one in existence, a ten-string mandolin producing the effect of a complete orchestra.

The character songs and readings will be in costume that picture six different peoples: Dutch, Irish, Scotch, Indian, Japanese and American. (The former number of the course was billed to include character sketches of the Southland. Many were disappointed that these were not presented but the Alumni wishes to say that the Thomas Jubilee Singers had spent four days in their effort to keep this engagement and all baggage was delayed, therefore their failure to fill that part of the program. Also, their cornetist, Mrs. Board, was taken from the train at Oberlin and spent several weeks in a hospital.)

The Fisher Shipp Company will appear in Assembly Hall March 31 at 8:15 p. m. Admission 25c and 50c. Doors open at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Aune's Address

The right sort of work for a man is that which is difficult, that he may learn to overcome obstacles and become the master of something; it should offer a variety of occupation and the opportunity to achieve something worth while; it should be such as will bring honor to the worker, and it should bring him security and congenial comradeship.

This summary of the right sort of work for a man was given by the Rev. Albert Aune of St. James' Protestant Episcopal Church, in his address last Sunday before the Young Men's Association. Mr. Aune spoke on "Work, Play, Love and Worship."

Prof. Lloyd Hinkle, County Superintendent of Schools, will address the men next Sunday at 2:15. His subject will be, "Our Contributions to the World." The address will be made in connection with the Drop-In Song Service. All men are invited to attend, and those who have Red Song Books are requested to bring their books with them. The singing will be led by Prof. J. Dale Diehl.

In speaking of work, Mr. Aune said that it should be selected with an eye on six possibilities if the greatest good was to be secured from it. Difficulty in work develops strength in man when the difficulties are overcome; without variety an occupation degenerates into mere drudgery, and is hardly worthy of the name of "work;" the opportunity to achieve offered by work is a spur to man's incentive to do greater things and to realize his best; the winning of a title and honors in the progress of work well done is a thing that is rightfully due the worker; a connection with a substantial firm or institution gives a sense of security which the worker should have, and work should offer a comradeship with fellow workers which is congenial.

The distinction between play and dissipation was clearly drawn by the speaker. Play, he said, is a thing into which a man may throw himself and lose himself and get some benefit in return. It leads to the development of a hobby, and may be such a homely thing as keeping a garden. A night spent at a cabaret, leaving the worker unfit for the following day's work, is not play, but dissipation.

In speaking of love, Mr. Aune evoked a laugh from those present by modestly admitting his lack of experience. He said, however, that the lasting love of man and woman is more apt to be realized when they have a common interest which they can share with each other. When the love of a man and a woman is centered on each other, it is not likely to stand the hardships of married life.

A distinction was made between worship and merely going to church to hear a sermon. A man may go to church to be entertained; he may repeat prayers without entering into a reverential mood, but he is not worshipping. It is not an easy thing to enter into the sincere prayer which is essential to worship. Mr. Aune said, but without this man cannot realize his full possibilities. No man of his own strength can realize the full possibilities of which he is capable.

PERSONAL NOTES

Catarrh Caused By a Germ

How to Destroy the Germ and End Disease.

To cure catarrh so it won't come back you must, according to a noted authority, first drive from your body the millions of germs that are flourishing in the inner recesses of your nose and throat and are causing the disease.

There is a preparation which does this called Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei). Hyomei is a germ killing vaporized air formed from the purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other healing and antiseptic ingredients. You breathe Hyomei through the mouth and nose by means of a little hard rubber inhaler which druggists furnish with it. This medicated germicidal air penetrates into every fold and crevice of the mucous membrane of your nose and throat, kills the catarrh germs that lodge there, soothes, reduces and heals the swollen inflamed membranes, stops the discharge and opens up the clogged nose and air passages in a truly wonderful way. F. W. Jordan, Jr., and many other leading druggists in Bedford and vicinity sell Hyomei with the positive guarantee that it must cure catarrh or that the money paid for it will be refunded.—Adv. 19 Mar. 21.

THAT COLD YOU HAVE

Any biting sickness, doctors bills and loss of work; you know that serious sickness usually starts with a cold, and a cold only exists where weakness exists. Remember that.

Overcome the weakness and nature cures the cold—that is the law of reason. Carefully avoid drugged pills, syrups or stimulants; they are only props and braces and whips.

Healthy Hair Soft and Fluffy

Beautiful hair does not just happen but is always a matter of care and proper nourishment of the hair roots. No matter if your hair is falling out, stringy, lifeless, and full of dandruff, Parisian Sage, an inexpensive tonic sold by F. W. Jordan, Jr., is all that is ever needed. It nourishes the hair roots and stimulates the growth of new hair. All dandruff is entirely removed with one application, and itching scalp and itching hair cease; your hair will be bright, vigorous, soft and fluffy.

Whether your hair is oily, dry or brittle, Parisian Sage immediately removes the cause and by toning up the scalp quickly restores the hair to its original brilliancy and vigor.

This delightful tonic is a real necessity and will not fail to give a lasting benefit to your hair and scalp.

He made an alarm for help, but too late to rescue him from the flames. The deceased was the youngest son of a family of twelve children whose parents were Mr. and Mrs. John G. Blackburn. Only two of the family survive him—Harrison Blackburn of Ryot and Mrs. Sarah A. Davis of Johnstown. Prior to Dr. Blackburn following that of his profession, dentistry, he taught school a number of terms. He was teacher of the New Paris school during the term of 1873-4 and was one of your reporter's best teachers. In the latter part of his life he was in a mutilated condition, was made in the Pleasantville cemetery under the rites of the I. O. O. F., of which the deceased was a member.

A Wonderful Healing Influence in Kidney Troubles

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of kidney trouble that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia Water and Tablets for some time and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass Gravel in urine until I had passed in all at least a half dozen or more and have not suffered the slightest since—and in all have taken one bottle and a half and feel very grateful to Swamp-Root.

Imagination balks at the magnitude of $2,000,000. Only when it is translated into terms of purchasing power does it become comprehensible.

Two million dollars, for example, will support more than 2000 families of moderate income for a year.

Two million dollars will buy more than 200,000 barrels of flour, more than 50,000 sewing machines or 80,000 suits. It will give work for an entire year to 2000 men and women engaged in various productive industries and other occupations that add to the common welfare of the people in all walks of life.

It is $2,000,000 a year that the Full Crew — "excess man crew" — Laws compel the railroads of your States to pay in unearned wages. These laws deprive you of improvements for safety and comfort in travel that this money, now used unproductively, would provide.

How much longer in these times when economy is a universal necessity are you willing to endure this tremendous waste? In the end the cost bears upon you, either in increased rates or decreased service.

Will you use your influence in urging that the people's elected Representatives at Trenton and Harrisburg work and vote for repeal of the Full Crew Laws and place control of the proper manning of trains in the hands of the Public Service Commissioners?

CHANGES IN SCHOOL LAW

Recommended by State School Directors' Convention at Pittsburgh.
Election of School Directors.—School Directors should be elected on non-partisan ballots. The retention of partisan politics in public schools is so incompatible with their best interests, as to admit of no argument to the contrary. Requests for the non-partisan ballot came to the legislative committee from numerous counties.

Election of County Superintendents.—The salary should be fixed before the superintendent is elected and the election should be by ballot. Election by ballot is the usual and ordinary method of registering the wishes of voters. It is important that this usual method should obtain in the election of County Superintendents for reasons fully apparent.

Professional Certificates.—Teachers holding professional certificates and having at least three years successful experience in public schools should, upon application for permanent certificates, be examined in only such subjects as not certified in their professional certificate. Teaching is a profession and should be professionally regarded. In no other profession are technical examinations required after successful experience therein.

Teachers' Institutes.—Amend the Code so as to permit the County School Directors Associations to determine the question as to whether the teachers institute shall be conducted in one large assembly or whether district institutes shall supplant the central institute. It is well-known that in many counties the Teachers' Institute has become so large as to be unwieldy. The cost of same to school districts is greatly out of proportion to the benefits derived therefrom. Local or district institutes may be made to meet the wants of the territories in which they are held, and the work should be performed by the local teachers under the advice and cooperation of the county and district superintendents and not by expensive and theoretical lectures with entertainment as the main purpose.

SPRING AND HOPE

As children and adults, we look forward to the coming of Spring with renewed hope. Even though the Autumn means the gathering of harvests, the fulfillment of hopes, a something accomplished, it does not afford that renewed action and awakening to effort that the softening breezes, gentle showers and mild skies of Spring call to life. A great plucking is in progress. In the South much of it has already been done, and like a vast wave is sweeping from Gulf to Lakes. Probably never in our history have so many acres been plowed and planted as this year, for we have not only ourselves but other lands to feed. We look and hope for an unprecedented yield. That's encouraging.

The railroads, having secured the rate increase so long withheld, are striving to float loans and secure the money necessary to repair their roads and rolling stock, long neglected. Already a total of $40,000,000 to be spent in this way is announced, and the result is car shops are opening their long-closed doors and many a small plant which has been idle for months is getting ready to resume and furnish the specialties they manufacture. That's hopeful.

The steel mills have sent out the welcome news, and thousands of workmen who have been idle all Winter now hasten each morning toward the goal of their dependence. Not all are needed yet, by any means, but the number is increasing every week. That helps.

The shelves of the country dealer are as nearly empty as possible; so are the storage rooms of the wholesaler and jobber. Yet they have been able to weather the gale, for the failures have been remarkably few in number; there is no inflation in merchandising, and once the tide turns, as it must inevitably do one of these days, the wires will almost melt with the frantic appeals to hurry up orders and shipments. The factories will be working night and day and the wheels of commerce will merrily turn again. All this is no dream, but the inevitable. Some unforeseen cog may slip and occasion some delay, but signs surely do point to a splendid resumption of business from now on. That's promising.

What's the matter with us, anyway? Big crops for two years and now wartime prices for grain and the money piling up in the banks. The deposits in Chicago banks alone increased $80,000,000 the first six weeks of 1915. We are better off than we know, stronger than we realize. We have not lost our skill, nor initiative, nor vitality. We're scared. We are like a lot of people at a funeral: the service is over, it's time to go, everybody wants to leave, and each hesitates to be the first to start. The "buy it now" and the "build it now" and a lot of "do it nows" are all right. While our sympathies for others in distress naturally depress us, it is time to rise above our fears, and with firm hands and brave hearts march confidently out into our future and our destiny. And do things.—H. H. Windsor in Popular Mechanics.

Instead of coming straight out and calling a man a slob, those scientific Washington officials say that he is suffering from "constitutional psychopathic inferiority."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

MR. BRYAN'S SINCERE SERVICE TO PEACE

It was quite unnecessary for Secretary Bryan to mount a miniature dove in his buttonhole and thereby set the humorists to making merry. As an advocate of peace Mr. Bryan needs no label. His efforts to attain that desired end have been intelligent, earnest and patriotic. The American hopes that in time it may be able to congratulate him upon the attainment of that ideal, and assures him that to him, first among Americans today, such congratulations will then be due.

We do not ascribe to Mr. Bryan any superhuman qualities of foresight. It was not, then, because he foresaw, years ago, this European war looming on the horizon that he dedicated himself to the cause of international peace. He can not be accused of either manufacturing an "issue" or having, with surpassing shrewdness, seized upon one which he foresaw would be forced upon public attention.

It was merely the natural working of the broad humanity which characterizes Mr. Bryan's mind that led him at his first entrance upon the State Department to take up the work of negotiating arbitration treaties for the furtherance of international concord. War was not then thought of. Secretary Bryan hoped through his endeavors to establish worldwide conditions under which it never again would be thought of.

Of course he failed for the time. The chemical ingredients were already mixing that made the present explosion inevitable. And yet it is still too early to ascribe final failure to his endeavors. The harvest of his seeding may come after the present cataclysm has passed.

It is well for the United States to remember that at the head of its Department of State is a man every fibre in whose being is instinct with the zest for peace. With many of Mr. Bryan's political theories the American is utterly out of accord. Certain of his political methods we have on occasion sharply criticized. But in his endeavors to promote the cause of peace on earth, good will among men, he has our most hearty sympathy, as he should have that of all right-thinking Americans.

Today signs multiply that the moment approaches when peace overtures will not be unwelcome in the chancelleries of the most noisily uncompromising of the European belligerents. The period of exhaustion is at hand. Men, weapons, food, and above all, money, are growing scarce. Some in one country, some in another, but a general scarcity of all in the whole theatre of war. Withal neither side can boast of any decisive advantage gained. After almost seven months of war the question of superiority is still undetermined. Europe is no more nearly conquered by Germany and Austria than they are conquered by Europe.

In such a situation the opportunity for urging peace upon the embattled nations may at any moment become apparent. The American people may feel assured that there will be none so quick to discern and eager to seize upon such an opportunity as their peace-loving Secretary of State.—New York American.

PRACTICAL PREACHING

The religious press of the country, and the secular newspapers too, are full of discussion for and against the methods of Rev. Billy Sunday. Ministers are flocking to Philadelphia by the hundreds to study his methods. Not many of them will care to adopt the more eccentric features of the Sunday ministry. But there are phases of the Sunday methods that every clergyman will find worthy of study.

Some ministers shut themselves up in their study and read books on religion and philosophy. The books are helpful, mentally stimulating. The parson's mind is uplifted by their broad outlook. He preaches the next Sunday from what the philosophers and theologians have said to him.

Now such sermons are occasionally needed for the broadening of the intellectual life. But they deal with problems that bother the philosophers and theologians, but may never have troubled the ordinary man and woman. The people celebrate abroad the eloquence and intellectual powers of their pastor. But little has been said that has helped or inspired them much.

Other ministers spend more time among their people. They learn the doubt, troubles, difficulties, and problems with which their parishioners are suffering. They observe human nature closely. Their minds are full of specific cases of people who have found rest and peace and help through various experiences. They try to communicate this help to the members of their congregation. Their sermons may not be very scholarly. But they inspire their hearers to renewed courage and strength to fight life's battles.

Probably right here is one of several reasons for Billy Sunday's marvelous success. He deals with practical life, with the problems that meet the average man and woman. The average preacher, without imitating Billy Sunday's slang, can give his sermons the quality of human interest that the Sunday sermons always have.

Women's Liberty Bell Will Be Cast March 31

Harrisburg, March 15.—It was announced here today at the State headquarters of the suffragists that the Women's Liberty Bell, which is to be rung for the first time on the day that the women of Pennsylvania are granted political independence, will be cast on the 31st of this month at the foundry of the Meneely Bell Company, Troy, N. Y.

Delegations from all four of the Eastern Campaign States—Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts—will attend the ceremonies, which will be both picturesque and patriotic. The full program will be announced later.

First Bank Notes

The Chinese were the first people to issue bank notes. They started in this business 27 centuries before the birth of Christ. One of these bank notes may still be seen in the Asiatic Museum, Petrograd. It is printed in blue, on white paper made from mulberry tree fiber. Round the margin is a motto which rather indicates that the first Chinese banker was of Scotch origin. It reads: "However much you may possess, strive to be thrifty."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of Sunday School Course, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR MARCH 23

REVIEW.

READING LESSON.—Nehemiah 9:26-31.
GOLDEN TEXT.—Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people.—Prov. 14:34.

According to Professor Beecher the extent of the period we have been studying during the last quarter is 332 years, from the death of Joshua B. C. 1434 to the reign of Saul, which began B. C. 1102. Though other chronologists may differ slightly, this is approximately correct.

We may roughly divide this period into the republic of God and the kingdom of man. In the first section we studied the period of the Judges, Barak, Gideon, Samson and Samuel; one prophetess, Deborah; also the priest Eli and his sons; Samuel and Ahiah; and Ruth, who was an ancestress of our great high priest. In the second section we considered Saul the king, and a prince, Jonathan, Saul's son. While the lessons may thus be roughly divided, yet we feel that a general review of the characters and the principal lesson to be learned from each will perhaps be the most profitable form of review.

There are four things to be said about each character and his relation to the events occurring in Israel: (1) The people had departed from God; there was disobedience and a religious decline. (2) God permitted on the part of Israel's enemies oppression that finally became unbearable. (3) There was repentance on the part of the people and an appeal to God for help. (4) God raised up a judge who "saved" the people and through this judge wonderful acts were performed showing his power and the favor which rested upon Israel. The adult classes can profitably discuss such questions as, "Why did the people so easily forsake God?" "Why and how did their repentance so quickly lead to their deliverance?" "How did God help the people to return unto him?" "What were the methods and the principles used in God's punishment of the people's sins?" "Was this form of government in vogue a failure?"

Coming to the second section, many questions suggest themselves: "What advantages and opportunities did Saul, the first king, have?" "How did his failure begin?" "What was the essential difference between the kingdom of Saul and the Republic of God under the Judges?" "What are the outstanding characteristics of Jonathan's life and character?" "What great message for today do these characters and these two forms of government have?" Doctor Torrey suggests a profitable form of review, viz., a doctrinal review: (1) The teachings of the lessons of the past quarter about Jehovah and the Holy Spirit; (2) The preview, types and manifestations of the Lord Jesus; (3) The teaching about sin and the particular sins mentioned; and (4) The teachings about the word of God. Of course to do all this, or to follow any part of these suggestions will demand that much work shall be assigned in advance and that great care shall be exercised to make any one of these lines a connected and interesting whole. Above all, beware of attempting too much lest the scholars become confused.

If someone can be secured who is moderately successful in using the blackboard an interesting review can be presented to younger scholars by making a drawing presenting a "hall of fame," with panels for Deborah, Gideon, Ruth, Samuel and Jonathan. Another drawing may, by comparison, be termed the "rogues' gallery," and may have in it panels for Samson, Eli, Eli's sons, and Saul. Then tell, as simply as possible, the salient points in the history of each and show how God approved or disapproved of their lives; which were used, and which set aside. Any school can have before it on a chart or a blackboard the following:

The lessons, chief persons, chief facts are given in order.

1. Joshua, Israelites, Judges; a great patience.
2. Deborah, Barak, Sisera; a great deliverance.
3. Gideon, Angel of Jehovah; a great call.
4. Gideon, The Three Hundred; a great test.
5. Manoah, Samson; a great failure.
6. Naomi, Ruth, Orpha; a great resolve.
7. Eli, Samuel, Jehovah; a great vision.
8. Philistines, Israelites, Eli; a great capture.
9. Samuel; a great victory.
10. Samuel, Saul; a great honor.
11. Nahash, Saul; a great rescue.
12. Jonathan, Armor-bearer; a great hero.

If written work is asked for be careful not to assign too much and, as far as possible, assign different tasks to individuals of a given class.

It would be an inspiration to have a number of girls of the early teen age each to read a brief essay on one of the female characters of the past quarter's lessons, also to have a number of boys selected to do the same for each of the important male characters we have studied.

There is a lack of subject matter for this period in the history of Israel that deals with life and activity.

STOOP SHOULDERS

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene

By Samuel G. Dixon, M. D.

Atlas bore the weight of the heavens upon his head and hands, but those of mankind who carry the burden of life, too often let it rest upon their shoulders. Stoop shouldered men and women by the thousands are to be found among the followers of sedentary occupations. Nine out of ten when the subject is mentioned will square away their shoulders and say, "I'm getting a little careless about that." Then they make a momentary resolve that they will brace up and overcome the fault. That it is a fault and one that has a distinct bearing upon health there is no question.

No system of physical culture is complete which does not include exercises which teach erect carriage and deep breathing. One of these is impossible without the other. In this lies the chief ill effect of stoop shoulders.

To maintain good health we should use our lungs to their normal capacity at all times. The proper purification of the blood through oxygenation requires ample breathing. Drop your shoulders forward and then try to take a full breath; see how impossible it is to do so in that position. Breathing with the shoulders forward and the breast bone depressed is only partially accomplished. The lower portion of the lungs cannot be emptied and instead of receiving a supply of fresh air they will be filled with residual air.

To work, sit or walk day after day with the shoulders forward, means that the lung capacity is lessened just as much as the corresponding loss of vitality results.

Such a posture also permits the sagging of the diaphragm, a resulting displacement of the abdominal organs and leads to serious digestive disturbances.

Do not resort to shoulder braces or other mechanical means to correct stooping shoulders. These are but makeshifts which do not remedy the real trouble. Make the mental effort necessary to keep the body erect. By maintaining proper posture the muscles can be strengthened and made to do their work of holding the body upright.

When children exhibit a tendency to grow stoop shouldered parents and teachers should see to it that they are given physical exercises to correct the fault.

Popular Mechanics Magazine

The editorials in the April issue of Popular Mechanics are by H. H. Windsor entitled "Spring and Hope," "Our Future Meat Supply," "The Income Tax," "A Sensible Insurance Law," and "Child-Labor Law." An interesting article discusses the "wobbling" of the north pole as a possible cause of earthquakes, scientific investigation having shown some remarkable phenomena bearing on the point. A number of views of Avezzano, Italy, since the recent shock there, accompany the article. Other page views and groups of views show the rescue of the crew of a beached ship, by means of the breeches buoy; the work of cutting the marble columns for the Lincoln Memorial, at Washington, D. C.; the latest addition to New York's skyscrapers; illumination effects at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Besides these there are fifteen consecutive pages of the latest views of the war zone. The April Shop Notes department contains the first of a series of articles on "Building a Home," besides much other practical material, which the Amateur Mechanics department has the usual number of articles and illustrations.

American Magazine

In the April American Magazine Cleveland Moffett tells the story of a wonderful new invention which, it is believed, will prevent collisions at sea and render deadly submarine practically useless so far as injuring an enemy's ships is concerned. In the same issue Ring W. Sarder, the famous baseball writer, described the men from the two major leagues. Ida M. Tarbell, continuing her new business series, "The Golden Rule in Business," contributes an article on "The Hours of Labor." Conspicuous among the short stories in this issue is a political story entitled, "The Lame Duck," written by Brand Whitlock, former mayor of Toledo, and present minister to Belgium. Other fiction of special interest and power is contributed by David Grayson, Ellis Parker Butler, Louis Graves and William MacLeod Raine. As usual, this magazine includes excellent specimens of humorous writing. The two departments—Interesting People and The Theater—complete an unusually original and entertaining number.

MODES FOR TOP COAT AND SUIT

The Late Skirts Show Trimming at the Lower Edge

PICOT EDGED RIBBONS

New York, March 22, 1915.

The proper wrap and the proper suit for Spring are the first questions which crop into the woman's mind with the beginning of the balmy weather. The winter coat has been worn until one is tired of it, and besides on the first warm day it feels so heavy and drags about the neck, and we need something lighter to take its place.

For general wear with the dress comes the coat in various styles. The model illustrated shows a new and very practical style in coats. In the back it is very full and falls in ripples while in the front it has less fullness. A wide gauntlet cuff is used on the sleeves, and the high collar which flares up as high as the chin is unusually new and smart. The model is developed in blue serge. Other fabrics which are being used for such a coat are black and white checked coating, covert cloth, field cloth, gabardine, and for the fancy coat faille silk is used.

silks cut on the bias.

Other skirts of net or chiffon have hems eighteen inches deep of taffeta or satin and many organdy dresses shown have deep hems of colored silk. Nets also have deep hems of colored organdy.

The scalloped lower edges are particularly pretty and can be used with good effect on the bottom of sheer summer dresses, if you are beginning to think of making these. Points are also used as well as squares. When very sheer material is used, a narrow ruffle of the same material may be used to run around the edges. In others, of a little heavier fabric a simple binding may be used to finish the edges.

The Eton Jacket with Full Skirt Developed in Khaki

Still another way to finish the bottom of the skirt is to cord it several times on a small cord. The wide cord has been used, but several rows of finer cording is much newer.

Fringed and picot-edged box-pleatings are also used a great deal and are very effective around the bottoms of net and tulle and sometimes taffeta dresses. These double and box-pleated ruffles are about seven inches wide and sewed on the dress through the middle of the ruffle, the upper edge is tacked at intervals on to the skirt, but between it falls carelessly and gives the whole dress a very fluffy and light appearance.

Small flowers and ribbon or tulle are sometimes used together in forming a very attractive finish around the bottom of a frock for evening wear.

The ribbons for the season are exquisite and the old-fashioned picot-edged ribbon seems particularly popular in narrow and wide widths as well as grosgrain ribbon.

A Full Separate Coat with New Style Collar

Speaking of faille silk reminds me of an unusual model which was shown in one of the shops of oyster white faille. It was very full, back and front and the entire thing was edged with a wide band of black velvet.

Of no less importance is the suit. The materials used are covert, serge, gabardine, voile gabardine which is a light-weight fabric of the gabardine type, khaki or field cloth, grosgrain cloth, covert cord, tweed, or homespun.

The suits this season show a return to the strictly tailored type. Of course, the military style is highly popular. This is so named more because of the placing of corded trimming and buttons than in the general cut although there are some that have a very pronounced military cut, and with pockets and belts in the places accorded them by the makers of British and French uniforms.

It is really strange how thoroughly mixed are these military tendencies. It takes the fair-minded woman to her utmost to be thoroughly neutral in her dress. It can be done, however, for a Uhlan hat may be worn with a dress cut on strictly English field uniform lines.

The jackets vary in length, some are moderately long in the back and cut short in the front from the under-arm seam. Others are cut short all the way around. The bolero with or without sleeves is worn especially in the silk suits.

In the second illustration is a suit with an Eton jacket with V-neck and buttons down the front. With this is worn a full skirt which is stitched several times around the lower edge. This is the type of suit that would make an excellent traveling suit for the woman who is going to the Pan-American or upon any other journey.

The separate waists, which, of course, are in great demand with the popularity of the suit, are shown in a large variety this year. The plain styles trimmed only with buttons and fastening down the front are considered the most correct, but they are slowly becoming a little more elaborate with a few tucks and a little shirring. These are made of voile, chiffon, and crepe de Chine while the ones shown for summer are developed in handkerchief linen, voile, Swiss and organdy. Very plain covered buttons are used on these waists and some of the very latest have small ivory buttons shaped like quinine capsules down the front. Most of the waists are made with long, close sleeves and adjustable collars; that is, the collars which are closed high around the neck or may be left open as desired.

Dresses are being finished around the bottom of the skirts in many various ways. A dress of net has a deep hem of white taffeta figured in pink, which was cut in deep scallops at the top edge. A close-fitting bodice of the silk was covered with a flowing bolero of net which was bound around the edges with the figured

Suffrage Leaders Do Not Fear Influence of Petty "Bosses"

Harrisburg, March 20.—A brief statement of the general effect that now is the time to work rather than talk, was made at the State headquarters of the suffragists here today by Mrs. Frank M. Roessing, president of the State Association. The statement was issued in response to numerous requests for an outline of the campaign which the suffragists are planning to carry the woman suffrage amendment to the Constitution at the polls on Election Day.

"On the 8th and 9th of April," Mrs. Roessing said, "our county and city chairmen will meet in special conference here. At this conference the campaign will be discussed in detail and definite plans made to reach every voter in the State. Until then there seems to be little excuse for statements of a sort beyond the declaration that we are confident of winning the same success at the polls as characterized our efforts in the Legislature. Every loyal suffragist in the State helped to win the legislative victory and every one of them can be depended upon to make even more strenuous efforts in the behalf of suffrage at the polls."

Questioned as to what the suffrage leaders thought of the rumor that the Republican party organization would work against suffrage at the polls, Mrs. Roessing smiled and said:

"Up to the present time, none of the real leaders of the party have declared whether they will issue orders either for or against us. All of the talk to the effect that the power of the machine is to be swung against us comes entirely from a few petty bosses in the smaller districts of the State. We are not alarmed over the rumors which they are floating, for two specific reasons:

"One is because we honestly believe that the real political leaders of this State are far too clever not to see the handwriting on the wall and fight a movement which is sweeping the entire country. The other is because we feel that even if a few little bosses should fight us, there are enough intelligent men in the State who would resist having the way they should vote dictated to them, especially on a question of fair play."

In conclusion Mrs. Roessing said: "I do not believe there is one man in a million who ever voluntarily does anything which might be construed as unsportsmanlike. Consequently I cannot help but feel that the great majority of men who vote on the suffrage question this Fall will give the women the benefit of the same spirit of fair play in reaching their conclusions as governs them in their consideration of other important questions."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

From American Boys to Belgian Boys

Thousands of Belgian boys are suffering. Food is being sent into Belgium, but boys, of from ten to eighteen, need strong, warm clothing. An appeal has been made to the boys of America to give a little from their plenty to help those suffering boys in Belgium. Money is needed to buy clothing for them, and with the clothing is to be sent a message of encouragement and sympathy from American boys. This work is being done by "The American Boy—Belgian Boy Relief Fund," which is being conducted by The American Boy, Detroit, Mich. This magazine for boys is meeting all the expenses of acknowledgment, administration, etc., so that every cent contributed will go into clothing. Money may be sent in any amount and will be acknowledged both directly to the contributor and through the pages of the magazine. Address contributions to "The American Boy—Belgian Boy Relief Fund, Detroit, Mich."

April Outing

The April Outing contains Bringing in the Bass, a series of photographs of bass fishing, showing the whole operation from the cast to the final landing. The River Content tells in a quiet humorous way of the little incidents of a fishing trip in Michigan. Where the Fish Never Fail is a story of the experiences and observations in a little old Newfoundland fishing colony where speech and habits are much as they were a hundred and fifty years ago.

Other articles include Tickling Trout Streams in April, The Deer That Stayed, The Humble Sneaker, Finding Directions from Moss, Naming the Birds Without a Gun, True Hospitality, When the Gray Birds Fly, Making Two Pictures Out of One, The Lost Art of Wet Fly Fishing, Last Stand of the Heath Hen, When Brook Trout Dine, Skeeking on the Water, The Golden Trout, etc.

Defiance

[Held over from last week.] March 16—Miss Sydna M. Thomas paid her friend, Miss Edna Lynch of Everett, a visit over Sunday.

Miss Sara Tenley, who is teaching the young idea of Huntingdon County to shoot, was home over Sunday. The committee appointed by the Alumni of Broad Top Township High School met at the office of Principal Brumbaugh Monday evening where arrangements were made to give a play to take the place of a number of the entertainment course in which they were disappointed.

We are glad to learn that our friend, Mr. Little, has been reappointed postmaster at Defiance. We have good reason to believe that the public is very well satisfied with this appointment.

Rev. John Harris of Saxton, pastor of the Church of the Brethren church at Riddlesburg, dined with H. H. and Mrs. Brumbaugh last Sunday.

R. R. Ryder and Prof. J. Allen Myers of Juniata College, Huntingdon, were business callers at the office of Mr. Brumbaugh within the last week.

William Babst of Elkins, W. Va., was in town on Thursday of last week until Sunday, being the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Babst.

Mrs. Lillie "Mamma" Beckley of St. Charlesville has returned to her home after a visit of several weeks with the Brumbaugh family, where she is always welcome.

Prof. Mitchell and Miller attended an educational meeting at Mann's Choice last Saturday night when both made addresses. Mr. Miller gave a splendid talk on Reading before the B. T. E. Association meeting at Hopewell on Saturday before boarding the train for Mann's Choice.

Mrs. C. W. Fox of Roaring Spring is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. H. Brumbaugh, with the hope that her health may improve.

The Institute at Hopewell last Saturday was well attended by the teachers about Defiance and it is expected that a number will attend the joint institute at Yellow Creek next Saturday.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Gilbert White had to be taken to the hospital, but it is pleasing to learn that she stood the operation very well and that she is doing nicely at the Blair Memorial Hospital at Huntingdon.

A crowd of Defiance folk engaged Mr. Johnson to take them to Hopewell Sunday evening to hear Rev. Willard preach and after preaching they started for home but as the automobile refused to pull them they decided to walk from Sunny Side, and like the Little Red Hen used to say, they did.

Master Carl Snyder returned to his work Monday afternoon after an absence of several days visiting his parents at Clearville.

FUTURE MEAT SUPPLY

From very earliest Bible times down to the present day, the human race have been meat eaters, when they could get it. Vegetarians have propounded their theories, and pointed to long life as a reward for abstaining from flesh, but the red-crowned, hungry man will not forsake his meat to any perceptible extent. On the contrary, modern methods of canning and cold storage have brought the shipment of meats to such a high degree of certainty and perfection, its consumption has greatly increased. City dwellers are large consumers, and our cities have doubled in population in the past generation, while our export trade has grown from almost nothing to immense proportions during the period named.

While this demand has been increasing, the system under which our beef was produced has largely vanished. Twenty years ago millions of acres of western range were as free to use as the air, and ranchers and cattle companies by the hundreds grazed their stock by the tens of thousands. These vast herds, advancing leisurely, slowly grazed their way from one good feeding ground to another; and, after a herd was once started, the comparatively trifling cost of herding was all it cost, while the production and shipping went on year after year. Now conditions are radically changed. The vast ranges have been surveyed, sold, fenced, and passed from government ownership to individuals. It is no longer possible to drive the herds from one feeding place to another, both on account of obstructions and inability to graze while on the way.

The evident readjustment must come through a reversal of the former system. Instead of one man marketing 5,000 head a year, there will be 5,000 owners producing each one beef per year. Some farmers, of course, will market more, but the great, reliable, steady flow of beef production will ultimately go to the packing houses in a vast stream made up of innumerable small branches. Under these conditions one or two heaves will live on what is now practically going to waste, and with the extra care which usually is given small units the weight and quality will profit. There will still be some cattle kings in each of the western states, but a great abundance can be maintained indefinitely through a million small producers.—Popular Mechanics.

Women's Rights

Women have always had their rights at the Bedford First National Bank. The idea that there is a certain degree of mystery connected with banking, and that it is hedged about with technicalities, probably keeps many women from enjoying the advantages of a personal checking account.

We welcome the personal and household accounts of women, assuring every courtesy and the promptest attention. Our women patrons appreciate the service which we render and we are pleased to open new accounts for any woman who desires to have the convenience and safety afforded by a bank account.

Checks save bother, steps and time. They eliminate the dangers surrounding cash—such as theft, loss in the mails and by fire. They systematize ones expenditures and automatically become receipts for every dollar spent.

Plenty of Garden Peas and Beans

When I first moved to Schellburg a good many people had stopped growing garden peas because they didn't yield enough of a crop to pay for the space they occupied.

I soon found that the trouble was that the peas did not carry the nitrogen gathering bacteria, and the plants were starved for nitrogen, resulting in a short crop.

We took to inoculating peas with the pure culture furnished by the Department of Agriculture and soon found that those gardens which could not grow peas successfully before we adopted the new practice made very fine returns from peas that had been inoculated. I carried on some side by side tests and the difference was remarkable. No one planted large quantities of seed; so we got into the habit of planting about the same time and a number of people would bring their peas to me, and all would be inoculated from a single bottle of culture.

With garden beans the result is a little harder to follow. We had small trouble with beans, usually taking a very good crop. But I have noticed one thing that makes it worth while to inoculate garden beans, viz: when the bacteria are present in large quantities on the roots the growth of vine is very rank and the beans mature more quickly and are more tender and succulent. Also I am satisfied, from my own garden experience, that the crop of beans is considerably larger.

There is no reason why the Schellburg practice should not be adopted in Bedford. I shall send for cultures and inoculate seed on certain days, without charge, of course, and will be glad to inoculate seed for anyone who cares to have it done. A phone message or a postal to me will result in listing the application; and notice will be sent a little later of the times when the work will be done.
